AT HIS OLD POST

RICHARDSON D. WHITE RETURNS TO HIS OFFICE AS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

Richardson D. White returned to Glendale from Fort MacArthur Monday night and was at his desk in the Intermediate school this morning, getting into harness as school superintendent. He is still in the United States army and must wear the uniform, but has been given a thirty-day furlough to return to his home and work, with the statement that his discharge will probably be received during that time. As a matter of fact, except for the week he was confined to his home by influenza, he has missed but one day of school, which was yesterday. During the balance of the time that he has been away the influenza embargo was in force.

He says he is glad to have had these few weeks of camp life and military discipline, but when the armistice was signed the thought and desire of every soldier turned to home, and the majority were eager to get back to civilian life. But the demobilization of four million men is a big task and the government must necessarily move slowly if it is to be done right.

No plan has yet been formulated for making up lost time in the work of the city schools, but Mr. White is confident it will be taken up with the county school officials and discussed at the next meeting of the Glendale trustees, which will take place December 11. The Los Angeles schools are cutting out the Christmas and spring vacations, they are lengthening the day in some instances, and have arranged for teachers' institutes to be held in the evening, thus saving a week ordinarily taken out of the school term. At the beginning of the year the day was lengthened here half an hour at the Intermediate and fifteen minutes at the other schools. This action was taken because it was felt that under the new work required, particularly the physical training, the extra time was needed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET

A very satisfactory meeting, both in attendance and enthusiasm, was held at the First Methodist Church Monday evening, when the members of the Sunday school board, the officers and teachers, came together for a picnic supper at 6:30, which was followed by a meeting at which Christmas plans were discussed. It was all quite informal and discussion ended in a decision to again have a giving Christmas celebration, which will be held in the social hall of the church Monday night, December 23, and which will be for the Syrian and Armenian relief funds and local relief. The committee appointed to arrange for this celebration included the following members: Adult department, Mrs. T. H. Meagher, Miss Margaret Lusby, Mrs. Harold Salisbury; intermediate, Miss Alice Watson and Mrs. H. D. Goss; primary, Mrs. B. H. Jordon.

The committee appointed to collect funds included Arthur G. Lindley, C. W. Ingledue and C. W. Hallett. Last year $190 was given and the hope is entertained that this year's donations will exceed that sum.

An informal address was made by the pastor, Rev. Charles Scott, in which he discussed the relationship between the pastor and the Sunday school workers.

GARDEN SOCIETY DONATES LIBERTY BOND

The following letter has been received by Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden Society, from Mrs. Jessie Duffield, secretary of the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross:

My Dear Mrs. Woods: The Liberty Bond for $50, a gift to the Glendale Chapter of the American Red Cross from the Glendale Garden Society, of which you are president, was formally presented to the organization at its annual meeting, Nov. 26, 1918, by the chairman, Mr. J. H. Braly.

The applause which greeted the announcement of the gift testified to an appreciation of the donation, which will very materially advance the good work of the chapter; but entirely aside and above the material importance of the gift is the patriotic love and devotion of the donors to the cause which it expresses in an intangible way, and which is beyond price to the Red Cross and the community at large. Requesting that you kindly convey this message of appreciation and thanks from the Glendals chapter to your society, I am, very respectfully yours,

JESSIE B. DUFFIELD, Sec.

TRIBUTES TO THE DEAD

GLENDALE ELKS HOLD ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DEPARTED COMRADES

An excellent audience gathered for the memorial service held Sunday afternoon at the Elks' club house in memory of those who had died during the year. The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion. Exalted Ruler Bert P. Woodard presided on the platform and other officers were in their stations, Stephen Packer taking the place of Dr. R. E. Chase, who was unable to be present. An eloquent address was made by Mr. Tichnor of Pasadena, in which special tribute was paid to the boys in khaki who went from the lodge and who gave their lives to their country, some of them overseas, some in camps in this country far from home and friends. Special music was provided and in all respects it was a most impressive service. The White Star Patrol, headed by Captain Wattles, officiated, escorting the officers to their stations.

Following is the list of the dead in whose memory the service was held:

J. H. Reagan, J. W. Parker, C. B. Cunningham, Henry G. Pettitt, Hans Grass, L. A. Fargo, Henry Nolen, Wm. Herman West, George C. Hollister, Eugene Glane, J. H. Stacey, Raymond A. Booth, J. T. Merrill, T. C. Malone, Bernard Touhey, James M. Sawyers, Young D. Brooks, E. J. Phelan, Mark T. Johnson, Lester L. Meyer, E. M. McClure, Claude B. Robinson, Wm. True Boardman, Clarence L. Ball, George LaCour, L. F. Kirri, Lister Silva, J. H. Sargent, Walter Whitworth.

NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

There will be a big time on Friday, December 6, at the home of Comrade Charles Bock, 421 Vine Street, when he will celebrate his ninetieth birthday. All the boys of N. P. Banks Post will be there, and there is usually something doing when this crowd of youngsters get together. They are accustomed to celebrating each other's birthdays and this will not be the first good time the comrades have had at the home of Mr. Bock.

BERNA MARTIN RETURNS

Mrs. Mary T. Chatdwick and her daughter, Florence, who have been at Berkeley for several months, returned to Glendale Sunday and have resumed their residence at 1631 Gardena Avenue. Berna Martin, Mrs. Chadwick's grandson, was with them while at Berkeley as a student in the State University and member of the students' army training corps. He, too, is returning with the expectation of remaining here until next fall, when he will again enter the university. While he enjoyed the army training greatly, it absorbed so much of his time and attention that he had little to give to regular college work, and the progress he was able to make was, therefore, disappointing. When orders came for the demobilization of the corps December 21, he decided, with the approval of his instructors, it would be better to come home and take up some employment for the balance of the year and start in fresh with the fall term next year.

MRS. R. D. WHITE MOVES

Mrs. Richardson D. White, who is looking for the arrival of her husband any moment, has moved from Wilson Avenue to 504 Raleigh Street, where she is established with her son and daughter-in-law and her little daughter, Helen. She had a serious time with influenza and was taken to a hospital for care. When she returned she found all the members of her household down with it, including her baby grandchild. All are now recovering rapidly, including little Helen, who is now able to sit up and be ready to welcome her father.

LAST CHANCE FOR DELINQUENTS

The local board of exemption has received instructions from Washington to prepare a list of all registrants below the age of 37 and above the age of 18 who are delinquent, to be placed in the hands of local police to be rounded up. In the language of the original orders: "Hell hath no furies such as peace for the men who failed in war." Chairman Lanterman declares a day of reckoning is in store for a good many men in this district. Men in the 19 to 36 class should have filed their questionnaires a month ago. The classification list was completed the last of the week and the delinquent list is now being made up.

KAISER DENIES REQUEST FOR INTERVIEW

HAVING RETIRED TO PRIVATE LIFE, HE DOES NOT WISH TO GIVE OUT STATEMENT FOR PUBLICATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Amsterdam, Dec. 3.—Replying to a formal request by the United Press correspondent for an interview with the kaiser, the kaiser's secretary today wired:

"I beg to inform you that the emperor, having retired to private life, does not wish to give any statement destined for publication. He expressed regret, for he would be glad to give out his views to the American public, where he has some friends left, but under the circumstances he cannot depart from this rule."

OPPOSITION TO INSTALLATION OF MARSHALL

REPRESENTATIVE MANN DECLARES THE HOUSE WILL NOT QUESTION CONSTITUTIONALITY OF WILSON'S TRIP

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. '.—Representative Mann, Republican leader in the House, today flatly declared against the resolution installing Vice President Marshall in the White House during the absence of President Wilson.

He declared he is entirely out of sympathy with any attempt to embarrass the President during the peace negotiations, and promised there would be no concerted Republican attempt in the House to question the constitutionality of the President's trip.

He declared that factional strife in America must not be allowed to give the impression abroad that the United States is divided on the peace issues.

The President was busy today with many questions. He cannot leave before tomorrow.

It was learned today that Russian Ambassador Bakhmetieff, who formerly represented the Kerensky government, and supporter of a liberal democratic government for Russia, will accompany the President to Europe and will present Russia's case at the peace council.

CARTER GLASS TO HEAD TREASURY DEPT.

PRESIDENT WILL NOT NAME DIRECTOR GENERAL OF RAILWAYS AT THIS TIME

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. 3.—Intimates of President Wilson today strongly believe that Representative Carter Glass of Virginia will be named to succeed Secretary McAdoo as head of the treasury department. They intimated that the President would not appoint a director general of railways at this time.

The President and Secretary McAdoo are understood to have conferred at length at McAdoo's home last night.

THE COLOMBIA TREATY

SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE ASKS INFORMATION ON STATUS OF NEGOTIATIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. 3.—The Senate foreign relations committee will ask Secretary Lansing to report the status of the negotiations on the Colombia treaty. The Senate Republicans refused to ratify the treaty because it contained an expression of regret for the way the Roosevelt administration obtained land in the Canal Zone. The original treaty called for a twenty-five million dollar payment, but Secretary Ryan reduced the amount to fifteen millions. Secretary Lansing's views on the treaty are unknown.

ARREST OF LIEUTENANT PERRY, SUSPECTED OF MURDER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—Lieutenant Perry, suspected of the murder of Captain Posner of the Eighty-first Infantry, was arrested in Antelope Valley today by deputy sheriffs of Los Angeles County, according to word received by Sheriff Cline today.

MANLEY MADE CHAIRMAN OF WAR LABOR BOARD

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. 3.—The War Labor Board today announced the appointment of Basil Manley to succeed Frank Walsh as joint chairman of the board. Manley has been connected with the Department of Labor.

RETURNING SOLDIERS ON THE BRINY DEEP

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. 3.—The steamer Empress of Britain left Liverpool Sunday for New York, carrying 76 officers, 10 nurses and 2,389 enlisted men. The steamer Adriatic left the same day with 80 officers and 2,208 men.

RAILROAD QUESTION TOO BIG FOR THIS SESSION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington Dec. 3.—Leaders in the House and Senate today declared it would be impossible to settle the railroad question at the present session of Congress.

LOOTED BY ENEMY

ROBERT ROWLEY TELLS OF CRUELTY TO PRISONERS AND VANDALISM

Letters from the boys who were in at the finish of the war overseas are beginning to reach their friends here and are full of interesting details. The following communication was written by Private Robert Rowley, son of L. T. Rowley, to his parents in this city. Private Rowley had the rank of sergeant and was instructor at Allentown, Pa., but surrendered his stripes that he might have the chance to go over there with the boys he had been working with.

With the A. E. F., Nov. 3, 1918.

Dear Folks: Just a few lines to let you know that I am still well and happy. I have been working night and day since the offensive began.

I have seen things the last week that I could not write of, even if I were allowed to. I have seen miles of territory that was held by the enemy only a few hours before. I have seen a great many prisoners and nearly as many released Italian prisoners.

The civilians are all half starved and all have stories about their mistreatment and especially so about the Germans who, they say, are twice as mean as the rest.

The Austrian soldiers had just enough to exist upon and the Italian soldiers were slowly starved to death and whipped to work when they could hardly stand.

The Austrians have taken every movable object except the houses themselves, and many of them are just walls. The country has been systematically robbed.

The prisoners are sure a motley crew and in a wretched condition.

We are a long way from our former camp. You never saw happier people in your life than the released civilians. I was at an advanced post and watched the beginning of the advance. I guess you know more about the whole line than we do. The boys have been working night and day, miles from our base, and only get a nap and sandwich now and then. We are getting to see miles of the country and see all the objects of interest, for we go everywhere.

We all expect to be home the first of next year. Love, ROBERT.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATION

A dinner in celebration of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lynn, formerly of Glendale, but now residing in Los Angeles, was served Saturday evening at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Westphal, 1442 Ivy Street, this city. The table was exceptionally handsome in all its appointments and silver trimmings radiated from a basket filled with white carnations and smilax with which it was centered. The Lynns spent eight years here and established Glendale's first restaurant. They were well known in connection with the Golden State Restaurant. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. W. Westphal, Roy Westphal, Mr. and Mrs. Borne, Mrs. Tollison, Miss Eleanor Westphal and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Westphal.

FRUIT THIEVES IN FOOTHILLS

Glendale residents at 103 San Rafael Street, who have a few trees of grapefruit and lemons on which they have depended for personal supplies, have been annoyed by the pilfering of fruit on several occasions. Like other growers, they have been to considerable expense for work and water to keep the trees in good condition, and have expended considerable time in caring for them. To be thus robbed by petty thieves is a very great disappointment and loss. They have clews which may lead to the discovery of the robber, but in the meantime it fills them with discouragement to have their efforts to enjoy the fruits of a foothill home go for naught.

DEATH OF BLANCHE BEESON

Another of the many pathetic events which have marked the war period took place Saturday at midday, when Mrs. Blanche Beeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown of 201 Milford Street, this city, and wife of Private Beeson of the United States army, now at Camp Lee, Virginia, died at Thornycroft Hospital, leaving an infant daughter born a week ago. She was but 19 years of age and her parents' only daughter. She was born in Florida and married two years ago. For something more than a year she had resided in Glendale, and in that time had made many friends here. The sympathy of the community goes out to the parents, husband and brother thus bereaved.

MUNICIPAL INSURANCE

CITY CARRIES OWN RISKS INSTEAD OF PAYING PREMIUMS TO THE STATE

An interesting and successful experiment in insurance has been carried on by the city for two years.

All city employes under the law are insured against injury or death by accident while engaged in the city's work, and the city is liable therefor. The city, therefore, has to be insured in some way to meet such demands. Originally it insured with the state, but two years ago it undertook the experiment of carrying its own insurance by accumulating a fund by paying into that fund money which would otherwise go as premiums to the state. As a result the city had accumulated in this fund up to July 1, 1918, $2,084.82 in cash and an additional amount invested in Liberty Bonds of $2,000 and in ornamental light bonds $505, making a total of $4,589.82.

The city is paying this year into this fund something over $150 per month in lieu of premiums which would otherwise have been paid to the state.

Under the first plan it was intended to limit this fund to $6,000, but inasmuch as the city has enlarged its boundaries since that time, the limit will probably be raised to $8,000 and when that sum is reached no further payments will be necessary except to maintain the fund at its maximum amount. The fact that the city has been able to accumulate so much in the time mentioned is evidence that there have been no heavy demands upon the fund and that it has been profitable to the city to adopt this course.

A SPLENDID FLORAL DISPLAY

Persons who want to see what Southern California can turn out in the way of a gorgeous floral show should call upon G. B. Woodberry, president of the board of city trustees, whose home is on Glendale Avenue, just south of Broadway. Along the north boundary of his lot is a row of poinsettias in full bloom, which are not less than eight feet tall, a most beautiful sight, but when one walks a little further to the south side of his house and inspects the clump of shrubs sheltered by the south wall of his dwelling, the glories of the first row are dwarfed. There is probably not a more beautiful sight to be found in Glendale. When asked to explain the superiority of his poinsettias, Mr. Woodberry attributed it first to the variety, which is choice, and second to the fact that they are old shrubs and have had excellent care and protection.

ELKS INITIATED

The Monday evening meeting of B. P. O. E. No. 1289 was given special importance by the initiation of nine new members. Following the iniation a fine supper was served in the banquet hall and a social evening enjoyed. New members received into the lodge were: Ford Alexander, Edward Kull, C. D. Bailey, A. W. Dickinson, M. J. Brennan, T. E. Yager, R. I. Graham, C. P. Young and S. H. Malarkey.

MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE

Because the regular work of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, of which Mrs. C. H. Toll is leader, has been seriously interrupted by the influenza epidemic, and because the holiday period from now until the new year will be a very busy one for all members, the decision has been reached to postpone all meetings of the circle until January 8, particularly in view of the fact that Christwas and New Year's both fall on Wednesday, the regular meeting day of the organization. Members, therefore, are asked to make a note of the postponement and be prepared to come together January 8.

TOURISTS FROM SALT LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Deskey, uncle and aunt of Miss Eva Daniels of this city, of Salt Lake City, Utah, arrived yesterday in Southern California and have engaged quarters for the winter at the Wilshire Apartments in Los Angeles. This is the fifth winter the Deskeys have spent here, and it will be a sad one, for they have just lost two sons, one 25 years of age and the other 32. Both were victims of the influenza and their funerals were held on the same day. They were fine young men, much respected by the business men of Salt Lake, and the sympathy of the community went out to their parents. The Governor of Utah acted as one of the pall bearers at the final obsequies.

THE CALIFORNIA PESSIMIST PROVEN WRONG

You have learned to deny yourself luxuries, to conserve your necessities, and to eat inferior bread, and you can thank our returning workmen that you did not have to eat crow and bow to the most vicious slavery—the slavery of the mind. Coupled with a patriotic purchasing of products produced at home, you have the additional assurance that you are buying the best products that can be produced. Our raw materials are the highest grade and our labor conditions are upon such a high plane that inferior workmanship is a commercial impossibility in California. PRICE AND QUALITY BEING EQUAL, insist that you be supplied a California product in preference to an article manufactured outside the State. Business depression is always predicted by commercial pessimists who see in any unusual activity a waste of energy. Depression was predicted to follow the recent Panama-Pacific International Expositon. But it did not materialize. Commercial extinction for San Francisco was predicted following the great fire. San Francisco is still here stronger than ever. No American soldiers have shown greater initiative, or harder fighting qualities, than the citizens contributed by the State of California. These men are going to bring back that same force augmented by a worldly experience. They have the right to demand much of us, and it behooves us not to be short in our response to them. We must prove to them that we have had the courage to hold together our political and commercial structure, so that they may come back to us as good, or better, than they left.

The mingling of tears of sympathy and joyous gratitude fill the need of the moment. But that time must come when the prosaic necessities of life will intrude, and the hum of factories will be joyous music to ears attuned to the screaming of shells. We must be able to lead each man to his particular niche in the community that he may begin anew his life where he left it off prepared to make the supreme sacrifice.

Let us bring forth our dollars and spend them. Let us give the lie to the vicious propaganda of depression following the war. Let us drive the cowards among capitalists from their ambush and compel them to establish new industries, to take the place of those destroyed or weakened. Let us augment and develop those institutions that we now have for providing employment. Let us not tolerate lowering the wage of the working man because of his necessities. A country running full blast is not worried about the cost of doing business. Remember that you, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer, pay the bills. You have the right to demand that production be carried on within YOUR community; that your dollar may return again unto you many times; that you wage-earners be given necessary employment under the protecting laws that you have so carefully built up in the State of California.

It is your glorious privilege to live in this wonderful State. It is your moral duty to support it by every means within your power—and your greatest power is your spending power. It is within your power to smite the profiteer within the jurisdiction of this State of California, but you have not that power over a profiteer in another State who may be dragging down child and women labor, squeezing the providers for families, not protected as they are in this State. To buy the products of a sweat-shop is to taint yourself with responsibility for such a labor condition. Every product bearing the slogan "Made in California" gives assurance that that product is produced under sanitary conditions, at a wage promoting the ambitions of our boys and protecting the virtues of our girls. It means your money's worth from any angle from which you choose to view it.

The Home Industry League of California stands for a square deal both ways. It asks no preferential in price; it makes no sentimental appeal; its underlying principle is common sense. Price and quality being equal, give preference to the local product FOR YOUR OWN SAKE! If you would do this, even half-heartedly, and the same principle were carried out in every state in the Union, the total strength of the United States of America would be immeasurably increased; great monopolizing industries built upon the weakness of other comunities, could not come up to the proportions of profiteering that they do now; quality products would rise to their true stratum in the universal demand; and the various states and communities would exchange that of which they have a surplus, and true reciprocity would result, and the cut-throat competition between states exchanging commodities that should be consumed at home would cease; transportation would be relieved; and labor, capital and initiative released for the development of industries and natural resources.

Inter-communication between people of different communities and different nations is along the lines of trade. It follows, therefore, that trade development in one local community is the logical means of bringing that community to the attention of other communities. The exchanges of commodities bring about mutual trust and fraternal feelings and responsibilities. The great State of California is not going to cut itself off from its sister states by mere concentration of local patronage. Charity begins at home, but it does not have to stop there.

Deny the responsibility as you will, you are, nevertheless, thy brother's keeper. When you induce an industry to settle in the State of California, you are morally responsible to insure sufficient patronage to that industry to develop it to its full capacity, so that the stewardship be not a burden upon the keeper. Strengthen the California industries so that it may become the keeper of its employees, that they may have faith in the present, hope of the future and charity for those that have not the common sense to purchase goods Made in California.

WOMEN AND RECONSTRUCTION

It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of the meeting held in Glasgow, recently, under the auspices of the Women Citizens Association, to consider the subject of women's share in the work of reconstruction. A tremendous task lies before the United Kingdom, in common with practically every other nation, in the matter of reconstruction. But the United Kingdom will address itself to the work with one great advantage, that it will have the help and advice of the women of the country in practically the full exercise of their rights as citizens. At the general election which is shortly to take place in the United Kingdom, no fewer than 6,000,000 women may record their votes. And these 6,000,000 women will do this, and will address themselves to the work of reconstruction equipped with all that wonderful experience which the last four years have afforded them. Thousands of women in the United Kingdom now know from practical experience what it means to engage in employment which, in the days before the war, were regarded as being exclusively in the sphere of men's work. They will, therefore, bring to the work an obvious ability to cooperate with men in any task they may undertake, and this places their credentials outside the sphere of criticism.

It has, of course, always been believed by those familiar with the question, that, whenever and wherever women really entered into activities with men, it would not be in the spirit of rivalry, but in the spirit of cooperation. The idea that when women were accorded the full rights of citizenship they would, at once, begin to work entirely for so-called "women's objects," and would disregard these great questions which have been exercising the thought of the public for years, was long ago shown to be absurd. It was, therefore, only what was to be expected that the questions set forth by Robert Munro, Secretary for Scotland, who presided at the Glasgow meeting, as having the first care of all newly-enfranchised women, were such questions as land, housing, temperance, and education.

In all these questions women have always had at least as much concern, and certainly as much claim to speak, as men. The events of the last four years, however, have enabled them to view such issues from the standpoint of men as well as from their own standpoint, with the result that there will be brought to the solution of the problems involved in all four questions a pooling of ideas by which alone their solution can really be achieved.

The one cause for regret is that the great machine is, even yet, not quite complete. Women have not yet attained full citizenship. The vote has not yet been accorded to them on the same terms as to men. And in many other spheres of activity the old bars still remain. As long as they exist, such injustices can, of course, only result in hampering the united effort which everybody desires to see put into effect. In these circumstances, therefore, it is particularly welcome to find such resolutions as that passed, a short time ago, by the National Council of Women of Great Britain and Ireland, in which a call is made for the removal of all restrictions debarring women from becoming members of the professional corporations or trade unions, and insisting, once again, upon that act of simple justice expressed in the phrase, "Equal pay for equal work." It cannot be too strongly insisted that all these shortcomings should be made good at the earliest possible moment.—C. S. Monitor.

CRITERION OF CHARACTER

Each heart is a world of nations, classes and individuals; full of friendships, enmities, indifferences; full of being and decay, of life and death; the past, the present and the future; the springs of health and engines of disease. Here joy and grief, hope and fear, love and hate, fluctuate; and soar the sullen and the gay, the hero and the coward, the giant, and the dwarf, deformity and beauty, on ever restless waves. You find all within yourself you can find without; the number and character of your friends within bear as exact resemblance to your external ones; and your internal enemies are just as many, as inveterate, as irreconcilable as those without; the world that surrounds you is the magic glass of the world and of its forms within you, the brighter you are yourself, so much brighter are your friends, so much fouler your enemies. Be assured then that to know yourself perfectly you have only to set down a true statement of those that have ever loved or hated you.—Jean Casper Lavater.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CLUB

December finds the Long Beach headquarters of the Automobile Club of Southern California housed in commodious new headquarters at 249 American Avenue. The new beach home of the Auto Club will be equipped with a large rest room and a special rest room for ladies. E. J. Steinke, Long Beach representative of the club, states that the new quarters will make his branch the best equipped and most commodious of the club's seventeen branch offices.

A membership drive is in progress at Fullerton, with a branch office of the Auto Club in that town as its goal. The matter has received warm indorsement from the Fullerton city council and every indication of success is at hand. If established, this branch will be equipped with a public rest room and other conveniences. No matter where one drives these days there is a branch office of the Automobile Club close at hand to provide the latest road information.

The printing department of the Automobile Club of Southern California tacked up a new record for one week of work when it turned out 75,000 road maps during the period between November 18 and 23.

These maps cover all portions of Southern California and some adjoining territory. In the past three months the Auto Club has printed and distributed over 600,000 up-to-the-minute strip maps. About ten new strip maps have been added to the club's collection recently in addition to a comprehensive map of the trans-continental routes and of automobile roads in California.

A trip of inspection over the Ridge Route by representatives of the Automobile Club of Southern California made recently revealed encouraging facts regarding the paving of the highway "on top of the world." It is probable that one of the detours will be thrown open shortly, but motorists are urged to telephone the Auto Club for the latest information before starting on the trip up the valley. The alternate route through Bouquet Canyon was so heavily traveled during the wet weather that the road is rather choppy at present. However, Bouquet is preferable at present for those who do not wish to negotiate several steep and narrow detours.

The city council of Bakersfield has passed an ordinance requiring motorists to use the new "common sense" code of turning signals suggested by the Automobile Club of Southern California. The Bakersfield city fathers declared that violation of the ordinance will be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $5 up to $25, or by ten to fifty days' imprisonment.

Doug Rhodes, head of the sign-posting department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, plans to re-chart every road in San Diego County within the next few weeks. He will then leave on a trip covering the main desert routes. All the data collected will be used in bringing the Auto Club's maps up to date and revising the sign system.

IT MIGHT BE WORSE

(By United Press.)

London, Nov. 17. (By Mail.)—An officer tells of a platoon that had been discussing what influenza was doing among civilians.

The men were standing by, waiting orders to go over the top.

"I'll tell you what, corporal," said a private, with a shudder, "with all these men here close together in the trenches, the 'flu' would make this a horribly dangerous place, wouldn't it?"

Personals

Miss Winifred Jones, daughter of Mattison B. Jones, returns today to the Marlborough School in Los Angeles, which was closed for several weeks on account of influenza.

Miss Edna Lawson of 338 North Kenwood Street is seriously ill of influenza, but the doctor in attendance hopes she will come through all right.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Richardson, Neville and Margaret Richardson, Mrs. Burbank and Mrs. Downs were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Brown of South Maryland Avenue.

The regular monthly supper of officers and teachers of the Tropico Presbyterian Church will be held tonight (Tuesday). The supper will be served at 6:30 and will be followed by a meeting at which Sunday school work for the coming month will be discussed.

Friends of W. H. Dotson of Harvard Street will be glad to learn that he is recuperating rapidly and hopes to be up and around the house in the near future. He was attacked with influenza about two weeks ago. It ran into pneumonia and he has been a very sick man, but, as stated above, is coming through all right.

Friends of Owen Dibbern are anticipating letters they hope to have from him written after the armistice was signed. When he last wrote he was well and happy and greatly enjoying life in the beautiful country in which he is stationed. He is in the headquarters troop in the quartermaster's department and has had no chance to experience life in the front line trnches.

S. S. Strong and wife of Sauk Center, Minnesota, arrived in time to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Strong of 336 North Louise Street, this city. The travelers drove by auto as far as Trinidad, Colo., where they encountered such bad roads that they shipped their car and came by train the balance of the journey. This will be the third winter they have spent in Southern California. They two men are brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Kepler and son, Leslie, motored to Pacoima Canyon last Sunday to picnic for the day. When they reached the mouth of the canyon the wind was blowing such a gale they feared it would be unsafe to make a fire, but on the advice of Mrs. Chauncey K. Lake, whose husband is custodian of the auto park there, they went some distance into the canyon where it was very quiet, and secured from Mrs. Lake a fire permit. They had a delightful day.

The conservation department of the Junior Red Cross is moving from the quarters it has been occupying, on Broadway opposite the fire station, to Brand Boulevard just north of the post office, in the building owned by Ezra Parker. Peace has in no degree lessened the needed work in connection with this department, which is intimately associated with the salvage department and undertakes to make the best of what is brought in and prepare it for service where it is most needed.

Mrs. S. J. Mosher and her two daughters, of 111 North Central Avenue, were made very happy by the arrival of Sergeant E. D. Mosher. Sergeant Mosher has just returned from the officers' training camp at Camp Taylor, Ky., and is more than happy to be back in sunny California again. Although being greatly interested in his military training, Mr. Mosher felt, when given an opportunity to resume the management of his ranch near Pomona, that he was needed here more than he was in the government's service at present.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is again a busy woman now that the influenza ban has been lifted from club and social activities. Today (Tuesday) she is the speaker of the afternoon before the Badger Club, which meets at the Ebell Club House, Los Angeles; Wednesday she will preside at a meeting of the district board at federation headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce; Thursday there will be an all-day state board meeting at Hamburgers; Saturday there will be a reciprocity day at Long Beach, which the district president will be expected to attend.

The lifting of the ban has revived social activity and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans seem to have had their full share. Thursday they entertained with a Thanksgiving dinner in celebration of the twelfth wedding anniversary of a sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Phillips. Present, besides the guests of honor, were their two daughters, Anna Ewell and Geraldine Phillips; Mrs. W. Ewell Smith, mother of the hostess, and Catherine Evans, daughter of the house. Red carnations were used in decoration and the dinner was followed by toasts to the day and the honorees. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Evans were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Goodwin of Garfield Avenue, and Sunday evening they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John C. Johnson of Pasadena.

The literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club meets this afternoon with Mrs. H. E. Bartlett on North Brand Boulevard. Italy will be the theme of the day.

The war relief committee of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will hold an all-day meeting at Red Cross headquarters, in the sewing department, Thursday of this week. All members are requested to be present and to bring lunches.

78t2 MRS. A. W. BEACH, Chairman.

DORAN STREET P. T. A. MEETING

At 3:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon will take place the Parent-Teachers' Association meeting at the Doran school. Mothers will sew for refugees. Light refreshments will be served.

CARNATION REBEKAH LODGE

The district deputy, Mrs. Wear, will pay her official visit to Carnation Rebekah Lodge this (Tuesday) evening. All members are urged to be present. Refreshments will be served at the close of the regular session and a social hour will be enjoyed.

GLENDALE FEDERATION MEETS

Tomorrow (Wednesday), at 10 o'clock, the regular meeting of the Glendale Church Federation will be held at the Lutheran Church, at which business of importance will be considered. All clergymen in the city are expected to be present.

UNION OF CHURCHES IN COUNCILS' TOPIC

Philadelphia, Dec. 3. — Organic union of the Evangelical churches in America is being discussed by more than 100 representatives of ten Protestant denominations, meeting here today.

The Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. made the proposal that brought the churchmen together. The present meeting is to last three days, and will consider plans to unite the ten denominations in one federal church.

These churches sent delegates: Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S., Reformed Church in the U. S., United Presbyterian Church of North America, the Methodist Episcopal Church, Congregational Churches, Disciples of Christ, Evangelical Synod of North America, Moravian Church in America.

W. C. T. U. THANKFUL

The first meeting of the City W. C. T. U. since the epidemic ban was placed on public gatherings was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. F. Wood on Wilson Avenue.

As some are still shut in by illness in their families, the attendance was not as large as usual, but a goodly number enjoyed the afternoon in expressing their thankful gratitude to God for the great victory in the cessation of the war, and for the victorious advance in the cause of prohibition during the past year and recent days.

War prohibition through demobilization, and the near approach of the time when all brewing of beer and malt liquors will be illegal and discontinued throughout the United States, and the lining up of the states in ratification of the federal prohibition amendment, all point significantly to the end of the demoralizing liquor traffic.

Special thanks were uttered that none of the twenty-nine stars and three triangles on our service banner have been turned to hallowed gold, and Glendale W. C. T. U. mothers are spared the great sorrow of the thousands who mourn for their dead.

While regretting the non-election of the dry amendment measure, much satisfaction is felt in the complete defeat of the vicious Rominger bill. Its failure strongly assures the ratification of the federal amendment by the California Legislature. This success alone is worth all the efforts of the dry propaganda.

A very interesting report was given of war relief work and home charities accomplished in the past two months, showing an output of sixty pieces (including twenty-six newly made quilts) for the Belgian relief, and twenty or more for the needy in Los Angeles. Including the work of making and remodeling, the union is credited with $127 donation at headquarters, from which all supplies are shipped. Such work will be continued as the meetings are resumed.

A letter was read from the national president, Miss Anna A. Gordon, requesting the observance of a universal day of prayer on January 9—"Special prayer for members of the State Legislatures that they may vote to ratify the federal prohibition amendment. For the brave men still overseas and in hospitals, and for their relatives and friends. For God's blessing on the patriotic work of the W. C. T. U., and that He will continue to guide the great organization in its ever-widening work."

A committee to arrange for such a meeting was appointed. Further notice will be given. Reserve the date, June 9.

Letters of sympathy were ordered sent to the members recently bereaved of their husbands, Mrs. Hutton and Mrs. Gaylord.

The next meeting will be, according to printed program, at the home of Mrs. John Paul, 233 (new number) Orange Street, Friday afternoon, December 6. Visitors welcome.

HISTORIC VERSAILLES

Versailles, Nov. 16. (By Mail.)—This is a great town for a peace conference. Although it isn't quite half as big as Toledo, Ohio, in point of population, and has not nearly the hotel accommodations available in Salt Lake City, and has no convention hall in the class of the auditorium at St. Paul, Minn., it has one qualification which absolutely puts those American cities out of the race for the world's greatest peace conference.

It has background.

Background is as essential to a successful peace conference as is chile con carne to a Mexican carnival. It is expensive, and the right kind can not be bought in any market any more, the late war having used up the entire current output.

The historical background of Versailles cost France a century of starvation, an ocean of blood, a cycle of scandal, a few billion francs, and a heartache that throbbed so powerfully that it jarred dynasties and empires off the earth.

Louis XIII, who was a goodly king, went hunting in the woods where now stands Versailles, one day about 1624. He had fine luck hunting, but at night he had to sleep in a hotel where there were some common folk sleeping, and sitting about talking politics! Sleeping in the same building with wagoners and farmers was shocking to Louis, for Louis was a regular king. He decided to build a little chateau near his hunting grounds, where he could sleep in peace once or twice a year, for he had no automobile to take him back to Paris at the end of a perfect hunting day.

That chateau of Louis XIII, a very unbeautiful but highly expensive house, still stands, with the magnificent Palace of Versailles built around it.

The palace itself could house ten thousand persons very easily, but it doesn't, and never did.

Is is used as a museum, and as a monument to the stupendous extravagance, effrontery and futility of monarchy. It is used also for peace conferences now and then. Usually, when two or more nations have struggled so long on the battlefield that all the common folk's money has been spent and the fortunes of the counts and dukes have been threatened, delegates of the belligerent nations have gathered at Versailles and signed a peace treaty. Now it is proposed that representatives of practically all nations of any importance and representatives of all classes of human beings, meet here to proclaim the end of war and autocracy.

Louis XIV built most of the palace, much as it appears today.

Louis XV made some changes and pretty much got lost in the big corridors.

Louis XVI did some more building and tearing down and improving.

Napoleon neglected the great palace, and afterward remarked that he was sorry he hadn't torn it down while he had a chance.

Louis Philippe spent a few millions repairing and restoring the palace and grounds and carrying out some projects of his own in connection with it.

And here it stands, ready to furnish shelter and background for a real peace conference.

Nobody ever will know how much the great palace cost France under the reign of its builder, Louis XIV. Louis became badly scared when he received the bills, because he had heard a good deal about some disturbers who were whispering that even a king had no right to spend so much money for a palace for to house his lady friends when the nation over which he ruled was starving. So Louis did what many a purchaser of expensive hats has done since—tore up the bills and burned them before anybody could look them over.

The palace was not built with an eye to peace conferences, or assemblies of democracies. Louis XIV did not know about such things. But Louis had a lady friend, a Miss La Valliere, with whom he was trying to make a great hit. She was the same lady who wore the little decoration suspended about her neck from which lavallieres (variously spelled and designed in these days) take their name. A certain Fouquet, Louis' minister of finance, also courted Miss La Valliere, and one night gave a big party to win her heart. He spent 18,000,000 francs on the party, but then he was minister of finance. He invited the king, and the king became wroth that a mere minister of finance should be able to give such a party and steal his girl at the same time. So Louis had Fouquet thrown into jail as a suspicious character, and decided to build a house that would knock Miss La Valliere's eye out, so to speak. Louis was a married man, of course, but then he was a king, and in those days a king could do no wrong.

Both Louis XIV and his successors found that the palace was entirely too big for one lady friend, so they brought in several at a time, and yet managed to keep them so far apart that the royal hair-pullings were very few indeed. Among the successors of La Valliere were the notorious Mmes. Montespan, Maintenon, Dubarry and Pompadour.

Descriptions of the various rooms of the palace occupy many volumes, and descriptions of the gardens about the palace occupy whole libraries. But the room of chief interest at this time is the Gallery of Mirrors. It was here that King William of Prussia, ancestor of William Hohenzollern, was proclaimed emperor of Germany on January 18, 1871. And it is here that we may expect to see William Hohenzollern proclaimed nobody, 48 years later. In fact, many Frenchmen are so poetic as to hope that by Jan. 18, 1919, either the peace conference or some auxiliary court may pass sentence upon the last German emperor for his crimes. It was here that a humiliating surrender was dictated to France by Bismarck, and it was here that the supreme war council of the civilized nations dictated its grim armistice terms that toppled over the throne of the Hohenzollerns in Prussia and the German Empire. In this most extravagant room of this palace that is recognized as the supreme expression of irresponsible autocracy, it is likely that the democracy of the world will be written into a permanent covenant and proclaimed to humanity.

This room is 237 feet long by 33 feet wide, and 43 feet from floor to cealing. On one side 17 large windows look out upon the gardens. On the other side 17 large mirrors, the same size as the windows, reflect the glory of Versailles and the scenes of statecraft that periodically are enacted there.

Versailles may not have enough hotel facilities for the conference, but it certainly has the atmosphere, the background. And Paris is but ten miles away.

POILU WRITES IN HEART'S LANGUAGE

(By United Press.)

Paris, Nov. 6. (By Mail.)—French is an expressive language, but it has nothing on the English used by a grateful poilu, whose wife and little son had been cared for by an American Red Cross physician. To-wit, the following, received at American Red Cross headquarters here:

"Dear Doktor: I am ashamed to write you this letter because I have few of knowledge of English. Since longtime already I will desire for learn English. And occasion being present at me one month ago by the creation of a English school, I follow it each evening hastily. No thing was more discomfortable for me than to meet your brave Yanks on the road without to being able to address a word. The looks seem well, sometimes, to translate a few the kindnesses that we have them, but that is not conceited, the conversation is better!

"It is now a great joy in all French army that news of Americans success in Lorraine. I should not finish this little word without thanking you for the prettyness that you have always had for my wife and my little son. Believe well that your shadow me remains dear and that I all receive with the greatest pleasure the little letter you will well write to me. Believe dear doktor at my better sentiments."

"GOSH!"

Henry James went before Dr. G. J. Hildebraand in Salt Lake City and was rejected for the navy.

"What's the matter with me?" queried the prospective Hun destroyer.

"You've got sclerosis, phthisis and synovitis," was the surgeon's reply.

The would-be marine blushed and turned to go out when the doctor shot a few parting words after him:

"Not only that—you're troubled with slight astigmatism, otitis media and chronic furunculosis," said the doctor.

"Gosh!" was all the lad could say

A WARNING

Oh, worthy "Council of Defense,"
Skilled instrument of fate,
Will you a word of warning heed,
Before it is too late?
We've left our loving husbands
In a state that's really sad,
With undarned socks and buttons gone,
And cooking that is bad.
Our children playing in the street
We've met with puzzled stare,
And murmured as we hurried past:
"I've seen that child somewhere!"
For every day, from morn to eve,
We've made at your command
The canvass you call "house to house"
To cover all the land.
We've sold the thrift and savings stamps
At each reluctant door,
And begged the laggard patriot
To take just one bond more!
We've weighed and measured babies in
A most efficient way,
We've got Red Cross subscriptions, and
We've urged a wheatless day.
We've gone at your behest to see
Each lady on the street,
To ask her please to pledge herself
To buy and serve less meat.
You've driven us from house to house
But never to a home;
What if we get the habit fixed
And rather like to roam?
My sage advice to you is this:
Since you control our fate,
Let us return to homely tasks
Before it is too late.
Or else I fear, when war is done,
And peace again shall reign,
You'll have to start a last campaign
To drive us home again!

—A. E. M.

GOVERNS 3,000 MEMBERS

ARTICLES AND BY-LAWS OF THE GLENDALE AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTER, RECENTLY ADOPTED

Glendale has 3,000 people who are members of the local American Red Cross chapter. Following are the rules that govern that vast body. Read the rules and then paste them away for future reference.

ARTICLE I

Name

The name of this Chapter shall be the Glendale Chapter of the American National Red Cross.

ARTICLE II

Purpose

The purpose of this Chapter shall be to aid the work of the American National Red Cross, in time of war, by participating vigorously and loyally in furnishing such relief as may be necessary for the Army and Navy, or such forces of the country, and in furnishing civilian relief for the dependents of soldiers and sailors; and in time of peace by responding to general appeals for relief made by the Central Committee, by collecting and distributing money and supplies, by providing systematic relief in cases of disaster, and in general by rendering relief and performing services in conformity with the Charter and By-Laws of the American National Red Cross and such policies and regulations as the Central Committee or Pacific Division may from time to time establish.

ARTICLE III

Jurisdiction

The territory to be included within the jurisdiction of this Chapter shall be the City of Glendale, Los Angeles County, California, including also Casa Verdugo, subject to such changes as may be made by the Pacific Division.

ARTICLE IV

Office

The headquarters and principal office of this Chapter shall be in the City of Glendale in the State of California.

ARTICLE V

Membership

All members of the American National Red Cross residing within the jurisdiction of this Chapter shall be members of this Chapter, provided that for reasons deemed satisfactory to it the Board of Directors of this Chapter may at any time terminate any membership in the Chapter by giving written notice to the members concerned.

Membership in the Chapter shall begin when the membership dues are paid and cease when period has expired if the member has failed to pay for renewal. All officers and members of the Board of Directors shall be members of the Red Cross.

ARTICLE VI

Officers

The officers of the Chapters shall be Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Secretary, Treasurer, and such other officers as the Chapter or its Board of Directors may determine, who shall be elected by the Board of Directors of the Chapter at the first meeting held after the annual meeting, or at a special meeting called for the purpose, and who shall hold office for one year from the date of their election, and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified.

ARTICLE VII

Board of Directors

The governing body of the Chapter shall be a Board of Directors, of not less than 15 members, including the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer of the Chapter, who shall be ex-officio members of the said Board of Directors.

The number of members of the Board of Directors may at any time be increased without specific authority by the Chapter, by a vote of three-fourths of all the members of the Board of Directors.

The Board of directors shall have power to fill vacancies in their own number or in the offices of the Chapter in the intervals between the annual meetings.

The Board of Directors shall have full and complete control and direction of the affairs of the Chapter except as hereinafter provided.

The Chairman and Secretary of the Chapter shall be Chairman and Secretary, respectively, of the Board of Directors.

The quorum of the Board of Directors shall consist of not less than one-third of its members.

Meetings of the Board of Directors shall be held on the second Thursday of each month.

The chairman of each committee shall meet with the Board of Directors at their regular monthly meetings to submit a written report of their committee's activities and accomplishments to said Board of Directors. The Secretary shall give at least two days' prior notice of such meeting.

ARTICLE VIII

Executive Committee

The Board of Directors shall elect three of its members, in addition to the Chapter officers, to form an Executive Committee to have full power of the Board of Directors in acting upon matters which may require attention of the Board of Directors during the interval between the regular meetings of the said Board of Directors, and may have such additional functions of said Board of Directors as they may prescribe.

The Chairman and Secretary of the Chapter shall be Chairman and Secretary, respectively, of the Executive Committee. A quorum of the Executive Committee shall consist of three of the members thereof.

ARTICLE IX

Meetings of the Chapter

The Chapter shall hold a meeting annually on the fourth Wednesday in October for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors. (Term of office as stated in Article X.) The Secretary will also read the reports of all Chapter and committee activities of the preceding year, also the financial reports.

Notice of meetings shall be given by publishing the same at least five days before the meeting in a newspaper of general circulation in the territory included within the jurisdiction of the Chapter, or by such other method which the Pacific Division may from time to time prescribe.

Special meetings may be held at such time and upon such notice as the Board of Directors may prescribe.

Upon petition signed by ten per cent of the members of the Chapter, or by one hundred members or more thereof, the Chairman or the Secretary shall call a Special Meeting of the Chapter to act upon the subject-matter specified in such petition, and the Chairman shall also be authorized to call meetings at his discretion.

Twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum at the annual or at any special meeting of the Chapter.

ARTICLE X

Term of Office

The Board of Directors and the Officers shall assume office from the date of their election and shall serve as further provided and until their successors are elected and qualified.

At least ten days prior to the time of holding the annual meeting of the Chapter, the Chairman thereof shall appoint a Nominating Committee consisting of five members of the Chapter who may or may not be members of the Board of Directors, whose duty it shall be to prepare and submit a list of the names of members of the Chapter to be voted for as Directors at the next ensuing annual meeting of the Chapter to fill vacancies. The ticket thus submitted by the committee shall be known as the regular ticket and the majority of the committee shall have power to nominate the ticket.

The fiscal year of the Chapter shall commence on July 1 of each year, and end on the following June 30th.

ARTICLE XI

Duties of Chairman

The Chairman of the Chapter shall be the Executive Head of the Chapter. He shall preside at all meetings of the Chapter and of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee, and he shall otherwise perform the duties that generally pertain to such office and to the executive head of an organization of this character, including the appointment of all committees excepting the Executive Committee, and he shall also perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Directors or Executive Committee.

ARTICLE XII

Duties of Vice-Chairman

The Vice-Chairman shall have all the powers and duties of the Chairman in the absence or disability of the latter, and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Chairman or the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE XIII

Duties of Secretary

The Secretary shall record and preserve the minutes of all meetings of the Chapter and of the Board of Directors; shall issue notices of the Chapter and of the Board of Directors; shall keep the roll of members; shall send to the Pacific Division of the American National Red Cross, at such places as may be prescribed, the names of the Board of Directors and of the officers elected each year; shall prepare and transmit such reports to be made to the Pacific Division of the American National Red Cross other than those to be made by the Treasurer.

The Secretary shall promptly distribute and convey to all Chapter committees information and instructions intended for their use, and see that all instructions and information are promptly distributed to each Branch and Auxiliary such as is intended for them.

The Secretary shall countersign all checks drawn by the Treasurer, and all drafts shall be issued with the approval or order of the Board of Directors or Executive Committee.

ARTICLE XIV

Duties of the Treasurer

The Treasurer shall receive, safely keep, disburse, and account for all funds of the Chapter and contributions made to the Red Cross, subject to the requirements and in accordance with the regulations and instructions of the Central Committee of the American National Red Cross of the Pacific Division, and of the Board of Directors or Executive Committee of the Chapter, and shall present a report thereof at the annual meeting of the Chapter. The Treasurer shall furnish such bond, if any, as the Board of Directors or the Executive Committee shall require.

The Treasurer shall forward to the Division Accountant of the American National Red Cross all moneys directly contributed for relief purposes in response to any appeal sent out from National Headquarters.

The Treasurer shall further receive membership dues, directly, or through properly deputed agents, furnish promptly to the Secretary of the Chapter the names of new members, together with other data essential to the Secretary's records and reports, and transmit to the National or Divisional Headquarters, as directed, the proportion of membership dues fixed by the National Central Committee.

The Treasurer shall further forward to the National or Divisional Headquarters, as directed, in the month of July each year, an annual report showing itemized receipts and disbursements for the preceding fiscal year, which runs from July 1st to June 30th following.

ARTICLE XV

Branches and Auxiliaries

Branches and Auxiliaries of the Chapter may be established only by vote of the Board of Directors. The form of organization of such Branches shall be determined by uniform rules established from time to time by the Pacific Division of the American National Red Cross.

ARTICLE XVI

Committees

The Chairman of the Chapter shall have the power to appoint all committees, except the Executive Committee, and delegate power to such committees as may be considered necessary and desirable for the proper management of the affairs of the Chapter; also fix the powers and duties of such committees; to increase or reduce the membership of said committees, and to terminate the existence of any committee; all in accordance with policies recommended by the Pacific Division of the American National Red Cross.

ARTICLE XVII

Funds

All money paid to, or donated to, or contributed through the Chapter, or its branches, auxiliaries, officers or committees, shall be a trust of the National Society and shall be expended only in accordance with the regulations made by or in accordance with specific authority granted by the Pacific Division and in accordance with these By-Laws.

The membership fees received by the Chapter shall be treated in accordance with the regulations made by and the instructions given by the Pacific Division.

The fund derived from the Chapter's share of the membership dues may be used for the current expenses of the Chapter, for securing members, for propaganda, or for contributions to the National Society for any permanent or special fund, or for conducting approved Red Cross work.

Contributions received by the Chapter in response to an appeal from National Headquarters for a special work or relief shall not be used for any other purpose. Money intended by the donor to be a cash contribution to a fund for such relief, or special relief, shall be used for no other purpose.

The Chapter may set aside a special fund for disaster relief from its income from memberships, to be expended only upon request of the Pacific Division in time of disaster.

ARTICLE XVIII

Chapter Activities

The activities and policies of the Chapter shall at all times conform to the plans and policies of the Pacific Division.

In case of war in which the United States takes part, the chief function of the Chapter and its members shall be to participate vigorously and loyally in the work of furnishing such relief as may be designated by the Pacific Division of the Red Cross for the Army and Navy, and Civilian Relief for the dependents of soldiers and sailors.

In time of peace the chief function of the Chapter shall be to respond to general appeals for relief sent out by the Pacific Division, by collecting money and supplies; to take the lead in providing systematic relief in case of a disaster in or near the jurisdiction of the Chapter; to secure and retain a large membership, and generally to foster Red Cross work.

In accordance with the established policy of the American Red Cross not to enter a field of work already occupied by a local agency, this Chapter shall not distribute relief in money or in kind to individuals except in cases of emergency where a large number of persons suffer as a result of disaster, famine or unusual conditions.

The Chapter may undertake educational and preventive work with a view to lessening the suffering that results from disease, lack of sanitation, accidents, disaster, and other misfortunes. Such undertakings would be subject to approval by the Pacific Division and conducted under the direction of the Divisional Bureau responsible for the activity.

The membership of the Board of Directors also may include representatives from the local Committee on Red Cross Nursing Service, Red Cross Town and County Service, the Naval Auxiliary, the Junior Red Cross, or similar activities, where there are one or more of these activities in operation in the Chapter.

ARTICLE XIX

Accounts and Auditing

The accounts of the Chapter shall be kept in such manner as to show readily at all times the exact financial condition of the Chapter, the sources of all receipts, and the purpose of all disbursements.

The accounts shall be audited at least once each year by a competent accountant who is not an officer of the Chapter.

ARTICLE XX

Minutes and Other Records

The minutes of the meetings of the Chapter and all committees, the letters and circulars of instructions received from National and Division Headquarters, the files of official correspondence, and the records of membership and of enrollment for service, except such as must be sent to Division Headquarters, shall be the property of the Chapter and shall be in the custody of the Secretary, provided that upon dissolution of the Chapter they shall be at the disposition of the Central Committee or Pacific Division.

ARTICLE XXI

Amendments

These By-Laws may be amended at any meeting of the Chapter, at which a quorum is present, by a majority vote, or may be amended by unanimous vote of the members of the Board of Directors present at a meeting specially called for that purpose, at which a quorum is present; provided, however, that written notice of all amendments to be proposed must first be given at least five days prior to any such Chapter or Board of Directors' meeting.

ARTICLE XXII

Rules of Order

Roberts' Rules of Order shall be accepted as authority on all points of parliamentary law in all meetings of the Chapter, Board of Directors, Executive Committee, and all committees.

There's Value in Cancelled Checks

Pay a bill by check and there is no argument against the evidence that checks holds when it is returned to you cancelled.

A checking account at this bank is an insurance against double payment of bills, furnishing a clear and convenient record of your transaction. Furthermore, it prevents the squandering of change and adds an appreciable degree of character to your dealings.

SECURING 1919 AUTOMOBILE LICENSES

So many queries have been received by the Automobile Club of Southern California regarding the method of registering machines and securing renewals that the club has prepared the following digest of state motor vehicle regulations:

"New" licenses are divided into two classes—those issued to persons who have never possessed a license before, and renewals. All renewals must be made through the head office at Sacramento. The upper half of the certificate carried in the metal case on your car is to act as an application for renewal license. Remove the certificate from the container, detach the upper half at the perforation and mail it with the necessary fee to the motor vehicle department at Sacramento. Return the lower half of the document to the container until your renewal certificate arrives.

The upper half of the certificate of registration fully describes the car and bears the owner's signature in addition to the proper fee (arrived at by multiplying the given horsepower on the face of the certificate by 40c.) Renewals should not be sent to branch offices.

New licenses can be applied for at any of the offices, including Los Angeles, Fresno, San Francisco and Sacramento. If the car purchased is a new one, application for license must be accompanied by the dealer's report of the sale. If the car is a second-hand one just purchased from an individual, the one disposing of the car must surrender the upper half of his certificate and sign the form of transfer upon the reverse of it. The purchaser also is required to sign this form, which gives complete information regarding the transaction.

Second-hand cars bought from dealers are handled in similar manner, except that application for license must be accompanied by dealer's yellow certificate.

The Automobile Club of Southern California stands ready to assist any one who wishes information regarding licenses or renewals. Club headquarters are located at 1344 South Figueroa Street, while seventeen branch offices are maintained, covering the larger Southern California towns.

BUT WHOSE ICEBOX WILL HOLD A HORSE?

Washington, Dec. 3.—Hats off to the faithful farm horse!

With prices steadily soaring on almost everything under the sun, the cheery tidings come from the agricultural department that farm horses are cheaper than they have been for ten years.

Prices paid this year average $127.98. In 1910 the high-water mark was reached at $145.22, and prices have fluctuated between the two figures since then.

Cynical folk, of course, may argue that it's small consolation to know farm horses are cheap when they need a suit of clothes or a roast of beef, but then you can't satisfy everybody.

DWARF TREES

Dwarf trees are suited to small gardens, they occupy little space, are easily cared for, bear sooner than standard kinds, and they are easily shaped into bushes and pyramids, or can be used in espalier forms, trained on buildings, fences or trellises.

BIG ENOUGH NOW

"A fellow threatened to punch me in the head."

"That would be too bad."

"Thank you."

"It would have a tendency to increase the swelling."—Boston Transcript.

GENEROUS OFFER

My little nephew is fond of remembering his aunts on their birthdays. He did not have enough money saved to buy one of them a gift, so he apologetically said: "Aunt Rose, I am sorry I have not enough money to buy you a present, but I'll come and stay two weeks with you."—Chicago Tribune.

Five hundred women in one Oregon home demonstration agent's territory—practically every one she reached in her work—preserved eggs last summer. Previously few eggs had been put in water glass in that locality for winter use.

WHY SHE WAS HAPPY

For a 5-year-old, Margie had traveled a great deal. One day her aunt remarked:

"Through all her travels Margie seems quite happy and contented."

"Yes'm," answered Margie. "No matter where I go I always find some dirt to play in."

Land is usually pastured several years after the small growth is disposed of before it is stumped. When land is kept in pasture for several years before any stumps are removed many of the small stumps will entirely decay and the fibrous roots of the larger ones will have become so weakened by decay that it is much easier to remove them.

JENNY'S QUICK METHOD

Jenny's uncle, who was a school teacher, met her on the street one beautiful May day and asked her if she was going to the Maypole dance.

"No, I ain't going."

"Oh, my dear," said her uncle, "You must not say 'I ain't going.' You must say, 'I am not going,' " and he proceeded to give her a little lesson in grammar. "You are not going. He is not going. We are not going. You are not going. They are not going. Now, can you say all that, Jenny?"

"Sure, I can," she replied, making a courtesy. "There ain't nobody going."

HAS A CINCH

"What are your chances of winning that rich young girl?"

"Fine. I've got her father and mother and all her uncles and aunts kocking me."

An artist's wife never admires his work so much as when he is drawing a check for her.

A man never realizes the worth of his wife until he has to cook his own meals.

There are only two great disappointments in life—not getting what you want, and getting it.

Says a rural editor: Money is close—but not quite close enough for us to reach it.
